

Bolts of fabrics are typically 137cm wide. When upholstering with directional fabrics, adjustments are required to ensure the correct matching and placement of patterns and weaves on the finished piece.

Our guide explains the directional requirements of RH upholstery fabrics.

No adjustments are required for non-directional fabrics. Non-directional fabrics can be turned and placed on the furniture without affecting the quality or appearance of the finished piece.

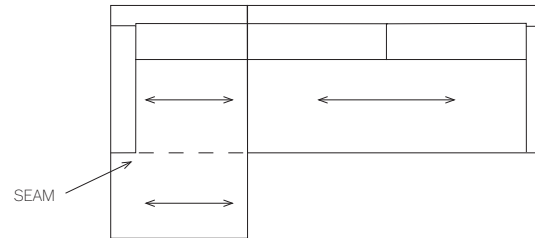

When upholstering with directional fabrics, our vendor partners meticulously cut, place and expertly match the fabric to ensure uniform color, texture and pattern placement on the finished piece. Pieces upholstered with directional fabric will have more seams, as shown in the image on the right.
