GARDEN STATE

For Greystone, her new outdoor collection with Restoration Hardware, Los Angeles-based designer Ann Marie Vering took inspiration from the stately Greystone gardens in Beverly Hills. Made of cast aluminum or solid teak, the pieces feature latticework reminiscent of neoclassical landscape architecture. "Lattice gives the feeling of elegance and timelessness," says Vering, "and that's what I ultimately aimed to capture in this collection." The line includes sofas (frames from $1,695), lounge chairs (frames from $1,150), dining chairs (frames from $795), chaises (frames from $1,460) and tables (from $625). Restoration Hardware West Palm, 560 Okeechobee Blvd., restorationhardware.com —Rhonda Reinhart
