Yesterday, June 25th, as evening fell, Lady Amelia Windsor surprised everyone with a new look that only served to confirm her status as one of the leading fashion icons of the British aristocracy. Known for her eclectic style and for mixing luxury pieces with designs from emerging brands, the sister of Lady Marina Windsor attended the presentation of RH London, The Gallery in Mayfair, the new space of the American luxury interior design and furniture firm, located in the historic building at 7 Burlington Gardens. For the occasion, she chose an outfit that combined two of her favorite themes: polka dots and romantic silhouettes.
