Margot Robbie is less than two months into her new bob haircut, and she's already finding unique ways to wear it. On April 21, the Wuthering Heights actress attended the opening of the RH Gallery in Milan, where she wore an oversized gray suit over a slouchy turtleneck and a dark gray vest. Leaning into the edgy working-girl theme she had going on, she wore her bob in a slightly wet and wavy style with a side part that hung over her wispy bangs.
