

VANITY FAIR

Milan Design Week: Stars invade the city with their beauty looks

Under the international spotlight, the Salone del Mobile 2026 welcomes stars from around the world, transforming it into a highly glamorous event. We'll tell you about the beauty looks, not just for industry insiders.

BY ALESSANDRA PAUDICE
APRIL 23, 2026

Zoe Saldana and Margot Robbie. (Photo by Alessandro Levati/Getty Images for RH) ALESSANDRO LEVATI/GETTY IMAGES

Is Milan Design Week the new Fashion Week? It seems so. It's certainly an opportunity for international and local celebrities to be seen and photographed at globally renowned events, at a time when Milan is on everyone's radar and in everyone's interest. And this year, there was no shortage of high-profile attendees.

Zoe Saldana and Margot Robbie opened the show, spotted at the opening of RH Gallery Milan, the seven-story behemoth dedicated to luxury furnishings, art, and fine dining that recently arrived in Italy from the United States.

Zoe Saldana

April 22, 2026

Wearing a golden dress and matching makeup with golden highlights, the Avatar actress radiated an unparalleled glow from her face, aided by her ballerina bun hairstyle that highlighted her face.

Margot Robbie

Margot Robbie. (Photo by Daniele Venturelli/Getty Images for RH) DANIELE VENTURELLI/GETTY IMAGES

The Wuthering Heights star looked decidedly off-duty with her wet-look bob and supernatural no-makeup look. It was hard to spot her in a crowd.